and her children are with Mr. Mckee at Auburndale, Mass., where they will remain until late in the fall, just as they did last year. Mrs. Russell Harrison will also open the winter season here, as has been her custom. Mrs. Dimmick and Mrs. Parker are again comfortably installed in their apartments on Twelfth street. Mrs. Harrison can well congratulate herseif in the successful redecoration of the state apartments. If it were possible to choose the most artistic and the most perfect of all in its details, the dining-room would naturally take the palm. Mrs. Harrison spent yesterday in Baltimore. The vice-presidential family has not reached here yet, and probably will not for another month.

The Cabinet families can generally be reckoned upon as the last to leave the city and the first to return. Secretary Foster's family is already comfortably established in their spacious home on Vermont avenue. which is familiarly known to the visiting world as the former residence of the Japanese minister, Mr. Yoshida; later on the home of the late Justice Woods, and more latterly that of Senator Payne.

The Attorney-general's family have been interested auditors all the past week while Miss Miller has been relating her European experiences. She returned on Monday, after an ail-summer trip spent traveling with Dr. and Mrs. Roosa, of New York, and Mrs. Mary Howe. They spent some time at the Isle of Wight, a longer period in London, then went to Holland, and later passed a month or more coaching in Switzerland, reveling in mountain scenery, stopping as they pleased and enjoying every moment of the time. A month in Paris before they sailed rounded off a well-planned journey. Their passage homeward had many exciting experiences, although they were not at sea during the full force of the recent gales. Miss Miller, however, took a heavy cold, completely losing her voice, and was, therefore, unable to speak above a whisper for several days after reaching home. Mrs. Miller spent Friday in Baltimore. Miss Miller will spend December in New York with friends. being invited for a number of social events which are to distinguish the opening of the winter season in the metropolis.

IT DOES NOT EXIST.

Secretary Rusk Says There Is No Foot and

Mouth Disease Among American Cattle. Washington, Oct. 17 .- News was recently received at the Department of Agriculture of the outbreak of a disease among cattle in sections of the counties of Chester, Berks | his face. It struck him square between the and Montgomery, Pennsylvania, and extend ing into some parts of New Jersey. Dr. C. B. Michener, assistant chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, promptly left here to investigate the disease. Rumors to the effect that the disease in question was the aphthous fever, commonly known as foot and mouth disease, have elicited from Dr. Michener a telegram to the department that he has personally inspected a number of the affected animals, and that there is not the least doubt that the disease is of a similar, non-contagious character.

'You can make the denial of the existence of any foot and mouth disease in this country as emphatic as you please," said Secretary Rusk. "It has never existed in this country, except in two or three instances, as the result of cattle imported from Great Britain which were found affected on landing in this country; but with the precautions now taken in the inspection of all cattle landed on American soil even a case of this kind has not occurred in recent years, and it is an absolute fact that for seven years past there has not been a single case of foot and mouth disease in the United States of America.

"I cannot too strongly denounce," the Secretary added, "the tendency, aided, I am sorry to say, by some of our journals, to spread wild rumors of the existence of contagious diseases among our cattle. People do not seem to realize that the publication of such a rumor, promptly repeated in European journals, many of them animated by a spirit of antagonism to our cattle inby a spirit of antagonism to our cattle interests, may cost our cattle-raisers millions of dollars. The first report of disease among stock should be made to this department and its official report awaited before any publication is made. You may add," concluded the Secretary, "that Dr. Michener's diagnosis may be accepted with the utmost confidence, especially as regards the question of this foot-and-mouth disease, which he thoroughly understands." ease, which he thoroughly understands."

Holy Land Tourists Need Have No Fear of Cholera, as It Does Not Exist There, Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.-In a recent dispatch to the Department of State the United States consul at Jerusalem, Selah Merrill, says: "This season there has been no cholera nearer to us than Aleppo on the north and Mecca and some of the Red sea ports on the south. Both Egypt and Palestine have been perfectly free from it. During half a century cholera, whenever it has been an epidemic in Egypt, has never appeared there later than the 25th of July. It has generally appeared much earlier in the season. Moreover, cholera does not visit Palestine from the south, but always from the north, coming by way of Bagdad and Damascus. It has subsided where it existed in and about Aleppo. Only a very slight inconvenience has been experienced this season from quarantine, which now is entirely removed. Intending visitors to this country have nothing to fear from either cholers or quarantine, and they will | implicated. find Palestine ordinarily healthy.

Special Examiner Taylor Resigns.

Washington, Oct. 17.-Mr. F. M. Taylor, of Illinois, special examiner in the Pension Office, to-day tendered his resignation to the Secretary of the Interior, who accepted it. In his letter of resignation Mr. Taylor states that an opinion prevails in the department that he was hostile to the commissioner, and that rather than he should be the cause of any lack of harmony he tendered his resignation and thus relieved the Secretary of the Interior from any further attention to his case. It is stated at the Department that this resignation has no relation whatever to the case of Engle and Howard, whose dismissal was recommended by Commissioner Raum.

Lawyers Call on the President. WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 .- The President re-

Hornblower, a prominent member of the New York bar. This committee was delegated to bring to the attention of the President and Congress a resolution which was unanimously adopted by the association, after a debate in which a number of prominent lawyers took part, in reference to the legal status of Indians on reservations.

The Navy's Largest Gun Mounted. WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 .- The President visited the Washington navy-yard this afternoon for the special purpose of witnessing the hydraulic mounting of one of the twelve-inch guns intended for the Monterey, and the largest gun ever made for the United States navy. He also inspected the new hot-blast furnace for heating jackets and boops, which is being constructed in the shrinking pit of the gunshop. A Mother Metes Terrible Panishment to the Betrayer of Her Daughter.

GALLATIN, Tenn., Oct. 17 .- A sensational incident occurred here to-day. Some time ago Miss Minnie Overton, well known in society circles, charged Samuel R. Elliott, a popular young man of the county, whose father is Attorney-general L. R. Elliott, the eloquent lawyer and preacher, with being the cause of her ruin. He refused to marry her. This afternoon, at o'clock, Elliott was in the store of W. Witherspoon, on the square, when Mrs. Archie W. Overton, mother of the girl, entered and walking up to Elliott without a word, dashed the contents of a large bottle of vitriol or sulphuric acid into minutes his left eye was entirely destroyed and it is thought his other eye will be lost. His face was horribly burned. He did not fall and only spoke to ask for some oil. Doctors were summoned and he was removed to the residence of his sister. Mrs. May Knight, where he now lies in great suffering. Mrs. Overton at once left the store. The Overtons are well known throughout the State. Miss Minnie Overton is a decidedly handsome and well-educated brunette about twenty-five years of age. She was very popular in society, and her downfall was a source of sorrow to many warm friends.

The Governor yesterday re ceived a letter from the President accepting the resignation. The cause of Governor Steele's resignation is not known.

FIGHTING FOR A RAILROAD.

Latest Phase of the Struggle Between Factions of O. & M. Stockholders,

CINCINNATI, Oct. 17 .- The B. & O. party of the O. & M. stockholders called a meeting this afternoon and held an election. They first served notice on President Barnard, of the O. & M. railroad, requesting him to appoint inspectors of elections, which he did not do. They appointed inspectors in due form and proceeded with the election by voting shares. One hundred and eighty-seven thousand shares out of a total of 240,000 were voted unanimously for the following three directors, who were declared elected, namely: Sterett McKim, of Baltimore; D. Fahnestock, of Baltimore, and J. S. Walsh, of St. Louis. The meeting convened at 2 and adjourned at 2:30. Obio & Mississippi railroad party, through their attorneys, applied for an order to restrain the Baltimore party from voting 147,800 shares of their total 177,000 shares of stock, on the ground that the voting power of this portion of the stock was not represented by proxies from individual shareholders, as the law requires. Eight Thousand Hear McKinley Speak. COLUMBUS. O., Oct. 17 .- Undoubtedly the event of the campaign here was the Mc-Kinley meeting this evening. It is said that no such greeting has been extended to a political personage since Blaine's visit in 1884. REAL ESTATE PICKING UP

In Judge Hunt's court, at 2 o'clock, the court adjourned, and it will be resumed

At 2 o'clock this afternoon, when the application was made in Judge Hunt's court, the Baltimore & Ohio party was represented by Attorney Colston to resist the motion. However, a deputy sheriff was dispatched to the meeting of stockholders to serve notice on them of an application for an injunction, but he arrived five minntes after the meeting had adjourned. Now it is claimed that the fact that the attorney for the Baltimore party in court, before the meeting of the stockholders was over, was an admission on their part of knowledge of the facts and that therefore the stockholders' meeting was in contempt of court since a formal notice to them by the sheriff was unnecessary. Evidently a big legal battle is at hand. No one would be surprised to see a contest in the courts between sets of new directors, three against three. Then quo-war-ranto proceedings are likely to resorted to. Another theory is that obstructive tactics will be employed long enough for individual proxies to arrive here from England in case Judge Hunt's court should decide adversely to

SOME LARGE TRANSACTIONS.

Real Estate Beginning to Pick Up-Mr. Shiels's Profitable Investment. The past week, including, as it did, very exciting election, was rather quiet in the real-estate business, though a number of good-sized transactions took place. Among these was the sale of No. 675 North Pennsylvania street by Charles F. Sayles, who had just completed it, to Joseph K. Lilly for $15,000, and that of the Ross Block by D. C. Bryan to the Indiana Investment and Savings Company for $31,000.

Rody Shiel is reported to have lost $1,-600 on account of lack of judgment regarding the issue of the city election. Mr. Shiel, if the report be true, would not be deserving of any great effusion of sympathy on the part of the public. It is not likely that he will go over the hill to the poor house.

While the campaign was in progress "Rody" was attending to some other business, and closed a deal yesterday which will enable him to get through the winter with a fair share of the comforts of life. For some time a Chicago syndicate, of which superintending architect soldiers' monument, is the head, has been negotiating with Mr. Shiel for the property known as "Bird's Point," at the corner of Illinois street and Indiana avenue, and for half of the property known as the "Marlowe Block," which is in the rear.

The deal closed yesterday. Mr. Shiel disposing of the property for $52,000, no commissions. The purchasers assume the estimated taxes for 1891 and the street improvements now assessed against it. This would make the price paid amount as a to-tal to about $54,000, upon which Mr. Shiel makes a net profit of $24,500.

The syndicate has purchased this property for the purpose of erecting an apartment-house to be seven stories high, with all modern conveniences. It will cover a frontage of 151 feet on Illinois street and 181 feet on Indiana avenue. The new building will be begun next spring and be pushed to completion, with true Chicago

Now that the election is out of the way dealers hope for a more active movement and that for thirty days at least there will be something like activity in a market in which there is no good reason for depression. There has been some activity out towards Irvington. East Washington street from the corporation line to that suburb is being graded and graveled to that suburb, a distance of three miles, and there is a lively hope that early next year theelectric line will be double-tracked. Michigan and Ohio streets have hope of ever developing anything from been opened from the city limits to Irvington, and a number of houses are going up. There is a fair demand for North Indianapolis lots. Among a number of real-estate-dealers the improvesion prevails that the small lot business in far-away additions is being overdone and it is time to discourage the platting of new additions of this character. It is considered that for speculative purposes such additions will not pan out, as the call will hereafter be for pieces of not less that a half acre and from that to five acres.

BUILDING ASSOCIATIONS.

Safeguards Thrown About the Work in Nebraska-Savings Society Festival, Everywhere there is a growing disposition on the part of building association members to have greater safeguards thrown around their interests by the legislatures of the different States. This disposition is taking form in the shape of petitions to general assemblies in such States as contain no building association leagues, and in official action by leagues themselves whenever organized. The State of Nebraska has just passed a law regulating the actions of the savings societies that is both terse and broad in its provisions. All foreign associations wishing to enter the State must submit to the banking board a statement of their financial condition and a copy of the laws of the State under which they are organized. In addition they must produce copies of their charter, constitution and by-laws, and satisfy the board of their financial strength. A further examination must also prove that the laws of the State under which the association is organized are as stringent as those of Nebraska. Hereafter all local associations organized in the State must conform in constitution and by-laws to the following points: 1. The associations will be required to publish reports of their condition.

2. They will be subject to examination by State officials. 3. It will be the duty of the banking board to see that unsafe associations are put in the hands 4. The State law punishes officers of building associations for making false reports or false en-5. Their bonds and mortgages must be nego-no unjust, inequitable or oppressive features.

11. Their organization papers must be approved by the banking board, and cannot be amended without its consent. All the above safeguards are guaranteed by law, and are so manifestly just and sensible that they will stand as a guide to other States in establishing regulations of a similar kind. Never in the history of financial institutions has there been so stupendous a system of popular savings inaugurated as in the building society scheme. That the most absolute safeguards should be thrown around the organtories of the people is self-evident, and it is a source of congratulation to all friends of the movement to see the State Legislatures taking the matter squarely in hand. A few weeks ago the allied building associations of Cincinnati gave a "co-operative festival" at a beautiful resort near that city. The speeches extolling the association idea were made by prominent representatives of the saving society interests. and the meeting is said to have aroused rework. The idea could be profitably followed out in a modified form everywhere, Association Notes. The Ætna association can make a few
